

Sharing the road with Bicyclists in America

Name: Julane Williams

School: Wellington High School

Grade level : 10th grade

Date submitted : Feb 5, 2024

There are many ways on how to make our community a better place for bicyclists. Having a bicyclists safe environment can be very helpful to prevent any sort of accidents that may happen. This can be done by adding more signs to keep drivers aware and imply rules for drivers. Another tactic can be used is that we should demand cyclists to wear bright coloured clothing and also wearing helmets which will be more discussed in my essay.

When sharing the roads with bicyclists sometimes its a too hard to see or recognize from a far distance. For the safety of our bikers it best for them to wear brightly coloured clothing especially when riding at night. This makes it easier for drivers to recognize them from a far distance and can take the necessary precautions that need to be taken when sharing the road with bicyclists. Also bikers should wear helmets to give them extra protection they need incase they do meet into a collision. Its better to be safe now than regret later. Moreover, when biking wear brightly coloured clothing and helmets.

While, another tactic that could be use are having signs to indicate when drivers will be coming across bikers or a biking lane. Having signs to warn drivers from a distance can make them more aware that they with be sharing the road with bikers for their safety. If those signs are disobey , the law should implement a fine for disobeying those signs.

In conclusion, we can make the road a much safer place for both drivers and bicyclists while using these tactics and just using safety precautions on the road. Be aware of your surroundings and bikers.