

PALM BEACH COUNTY FIRE RESCUE BATTALION 2

To Whom It May Concern,

It is with great pride and enthusiasm that I write this letter of commendation in support of Ryan Reddoch for the honor of Wellington Firefighter of the Year.

Ryan Reddoch is a lifelong member of the Wellington community, having lived here since the age of three. He attended both primary and secondary schools in Wellington and continues to call the city home, where he lives with his family. His wife is a long-time, dedicated teacher at Wellington High School, and his children attend local schools, further strengthening the Reddoch family's deep roots and commitment to this community.

Throughout his career with Palm Beach County Fire Rescue, Ryan has exemplified professionalism, kindness, and integrity in every interaction. He has spent the majority of his career serving in Battalion 2, Station 25, where he consistently demonstrates pride in his city and his role as a firefighter/paramedic. Ryan approaches his work with a positive attitude and a willingness to take on any task asked of him, making him a truly valuable asset to our department.

Beyond his assigned duties, Ryan has generously dedicated countless hours providing paramedic support at local horse jumping and polo events, ensuring the safety and well-being of participants and spectators alike. His service at these events reflects his commitment to Wellington and his desire to give back to the community in meaningful ways.

Ryan's connection to the community is evident in everyday moments. While out in the city, it is common to encounter residents who know him personally. He is always gracious with his time—greeting community members, engaging with families, and taking special care to inspire young people by showing them the fire trucks and answering their questions. These interactions leave a lasting, positive impression and embody the spirit of public service.

Ryan Reddoch represents the very best of what Wellington stands for—service, dedication, professionalism, and community pride.

We sincerely appreciate Ryan as a member of our team at Palm Beach County Fire Rescue and believe he is a perfect representation of Wellington through the work he does every day at Station 25. For these reasons, Ryan Reddoch is exceptionally deserving of recognition as Wellington Firefighter of the Year.

Respectfully submitted,
Captain Shane Armstrong
